

Healing und Soul

The spiritual access to the Energy- and Information-Field of the Human Being

Imagine it is early morning and you step out into your garden. The sun is just rising and everything is still covered with fresh dew.

Then, in front of you, you see a freshly woven spider's web. Barely visible, tender and delicate, it floats in space, and its silvery shine reflects the rays of the rising sun. Each one of its fine threads vibrates in silence and even the threads, which fix the web, are barely visible and seem to hang loose and without any tight anchorage in space.

This web, embedded in nature, swings silently in the wind and reacts gently to all movements in its surroundings. It enjoys its complete vibrational freedom, its subtleness, its soundness and health.

Suddenly you observe how a fly is caught and gets stuck in this tender web. Three, four or even five threads suddenly stick together and form a lump with the fly. And you see how at this spot the vibration of the web changes – a vibration of a different frequency originates from there, one that is rougher and heavier, lower and slower – a lumpy vibration.

And this rough frequency now spreads as a secondary vibration – in addition to the primary, subtle vibration – throughout the whole web, onto its fixations, into the surroundings, extending into the whole LIFE.

Everything we experience in LIFE as traumatic experiences is similar to such flies. Similar to the way flies get caught and stuck in the SPIDER'S WEB, various forms of consciousness – from emotional traumas and negative thoughts to physical injuries – are accumulating in our ENERGY- AND INFORMATION-FIELD. They change our vibration, make it appear more crude and more dense, thereby increasingly restricting our vibrational freedom; in this way, they become the cause of a variety of symptoms on a psychological and physical level.

The question is:

What is required to loosen this adhesiveness and lumpiness and to liberate the flies again?

The answer is:

Warmth, Love and Forgiveness.

Why Warmth?

Only the warmth allows the working within the Energy- and Information-Field. Imagine yourself the Energy-Field as stable and hard as an ice cube, in the midst of which the fly is frozen. Surely, we can set to work on it with an ice axe, or a hammer and a chisel, but this is very laborious. Is it not much easier to simply put the ice cube into the sun? The ice melts and the fly is exposed without any effort and can be removed. This is the reason why the warm-up phase is so important at the beginning of every spiritual healing.

Why Love and Forgiveness?

They are the solvent for the glue, which sticks the fly to the threads of the spider's web. If Love and Forgiveness originate in the mind, then they don't have any power of dissolving in the Energy- and Information-Field. Our Information-Field knows exactly about the nature of the mind. It is too erratic and inconsistent. Today it says stop, tomorrow it says go. It is indecisive and not reliable. Therefore our Energy- and Information-Field does not trust the mind.

Quite contrary are Love and Forgiveness from the heart. The Unconditional Love of our heart melts and dissolves any glue, and with the Power of Forgiveness of our heart we let go. Whatever we have forgiven, we have let go of, and we are released from it. In this way, forgiveness is the tool of salvation, and salvation brings us inner peace.

Love and Forgiveness – together they dig out the flies (dis-information) from our Energy-Field, remove dissonances from our etherical body and dissolve blockages in our physical body, and bring about healing on all levels of our being and our life.

This is the reason why – whilst warming up your Energy-Field – I repeatedly tell you sentences, whose purpose it is to guide you into your heart, and to open your heart for your love, your compassion, your kindness.

In this way we work together on the spiritual level, cleaning your Energy- and Information-Field, purifying your thoughts and liberating you from old thought-patterns, thereby developing your spiritual understanding for your inherent spiritual healing forces. As soon as your Energy-Field is clean, we can take a step further and look into your heart; from here the spiritual-emotional phase of healing is unlocked.

Relax yourself, feel into your heart, sense the Love in your heart and surrender to the Divine within you, surrender to your soul, your spirit, while repeatedly saying to yourself:

"I love myself and I forgive myself, and I fill my heart with the Unconditional Love of God, and I fill it to the rim. That is for me – for me only – because I deserve it – because I am of value."
